Document dated July 9, 1968 from the Advisory Committee on Law School Planning, commissioned by UC President Clark Kerr to study California state needs for legal education.

has surpassed the goals set for its first 10 years and has emerged as a leader in legal education and public service.

From opening the doors to its first class of students in 2009 to present day, UCI Law remains at the cutting-edge of legal education and inspires aspiring lawyers of talent, passion, and diversity – forty-five percent of graduates are students of color. The law school's innovative curriculum focuses on professional excellence, intellectual rigor and a commitment to enrich our communities through public service. In the past decade, UCI Law students have completed more than 80,000 hours of pro bono work.

Celebrating its 10th anniversary, UCI Law grows into its second decade larger, stronger, and a more dynamic academic institution than its founders could have ever imagined.

Starting with UCI Law's historical beginnings, the rich history of how its collaborative and interdisciplinary community has redefined and reimagined legal education and public service shines brilliantly throughout this exhibit and UCI Law's 10-year anniversary webpage.

U.S. District Court Judge Andrew Guilford, current dean Song Richardson and former dean Erwin Chemerinsky, April 11, 2018
